

Peace through Mentorship: The Peace X Peace Mentorship Program

Below, please find the application for individuals interested in serving as mentors.

Application For Potential Mentors:

1. Name: (Last, First)
2. Email:
3. Phone number:
4. Age: (optional although to be a mentor you must be 30+)
5. Location: (Country, State/Province)
6. Occupation/ Field of work:
7. Company/Organization - Job Title and brief description:
8. Describe your involvement in peace and women's rights advocacy. What activities, organizations, etc have you participated in?
9. Why are you interested in this mentorship program?
10. Which of the categories would you prefer to mentor in?
11. Are there any special skills or particular areas you feel you can offer support and advice?
12. Would you be interested in meeting face to face or strictly online?
13. Do you have Skype capabilities?

The following two questions are optional but would help us to create a more optimal match.

14. Religion (optional)
15. Please briefly describe your political or ideological orientation.

Below is the list of categories that will allow us to better match you with the appropriate mentee.

Please circle two categories to which you can relate.

1) Peace Media

Women everywhere are successfully using media to promote peace and women's empowerment. This mentor will be in the media profession, someone who has experience with publications, video, radio, television, or social media. She will mentor young women who are interested in gaining skills in one of the above-listed fields.

2) Peacebuilding/Mediation

This category is specifically for women who work in peacebuilding, mediation, conflict resolution, or international relations. Women in this field are on the frontlines of the peace movement and will be able to mentor young women who seek to enter these fields.

3) Peace Arts and Peace Education

Peacebuilding pioneer Johan Galtung defines peace as nonviolence plus empathy and creativity. Mentors in this category will be artists whose work builds peace, peace educators, peace-minded mental health professionals, and experts in nonviolent communication. Mentors will share their strategies for building peace through education and the arts with young women seeking to do the same.

4) Connection Point (Arab, Muslim, Western)

In 2011 Peace X Peace started the Connection Point project, which seeks to break down stereotypes and other barriers between Arab, Muslim, and mainstream Western women. A Connection Point mentor will be an Arab or Muslim woman mentoring a young Western woman or a Western professional mentoring a young Arab or Muslim woman. Their relationship will build peace while the young woman gains the guidance she needs in her chosen career path.

5) Entrepreneurs/Professionals

This is a broad category that can include most professions and business areas. We are seeking professional women with an affinity for peace in their daily lives, whether or not it is the focus of their work. This woman will be able to guide young women seeking a career in the same field who want to make room for their passion for peace in the bustling corporate world.

**By submitting this application you are signifying that you agree to the terms of the program. If you feel you will not be able to meet bi-weekly with your mentor via skype, phone, or in person then please do not submit your application as it makes the program less effective. You can find a full list of the terms of this program on our website.